

Speaking

CELBAN 6 OR LOWER	CELBAN 7	CELBAN 8	CELBAN 9	CELBAN 10
Your ability level could be anywhere from level 1 to level 6 on the CLB scale. You communicate in some routine social interactions. You may be able to describe, and give some complicated information. It is sometimes difficult for others to understand you because of mistakes in pronunciation. You use some variety in grammatical structures, but you make errors with complex structures. You use concrete, everyday vocabulary that is sometimes adequate for the context. You do not always organize your ideas successfully and they are difficult to follow. You don't always take initiative or use the right tone for the situation. You use few communication strategies when interacting with others.	You communicate reasonably fluently in many routine work-related situations. You have the language to give information, make comparisons and discuss basic concepts. Others can understand you most of the time, although errors in pronunciation may cause occasional difficulty. There is some variety in your use of grammatical structures, and you have some control over more complicated grammatical structures. You use concrete and idiomatic vocabulary that is usually adequate for the context. You organize and connect your ideas adequately, but they are not always easy to follow. You usually take initiative and engage others, but you may not always use the right tone for the situation. You sometimes use communication strategies successfully when interacting with others.	You communicate fluently in most daily routine work-related situations. You have the language to provide clear explanations, make suitable suggestions, and discuss some abstract concepts. Others can understand you, and errors in pronunciation seldom cause difficulty. There is variety in your use of grammatical structures, and you have adequate control of more complicated grammatical structures. You use concrete, idiomatic, and conceptual vocabulary that is adequate for the context. You organize and connect your ideas appropriately so that they are easy to follow. You engage others, and usually adapt your tone for the situation. You use communication strategies consistently and effectively when interacting with others.	You communicate fluently in demanding or challenging non-routine work-related situations. You have the language to advise, support your opinions, and discuss concepts that are more abstract. Others can understand you, and errors in pronunciation rarely cause difficulty. There is good variety in your use of grammatical structures, and you have good control of complex grammatical structures. You use an expanded range of conceptual and idiomatic vocabulary that is appropriate for the context. You use a variety of cohesive devices effectively to connect and support your ideas. You effectively engage others and adapt your tone for the situation. You use a variety of communication strategies consistently and effectively to interact with others.	You communicate fluently in demanding or challenging non-routine work-related situations. You have the language to analyze, hypothesize, synthesize and evaluate abstract concepts. Others can understand you, and errors in pronunciation do not cause difficulty. There is wide variety in your use of grammatical structures, and you have very good control of complex grammatical structures. You use an expanded range of conceptual and idiomatic vocabulary that is very appropriate for the context. You flexibly use a variety of cohesive devices effectively to connect and fully support your ideas. You confidently engage others and effectively adjust your tone for the situation. You flexibly use appropriate communication strategies to ensure successful interactions.